

1.0 General

In some circumstances, the department issues interim policy and procedures when warranted.

2.0 Interim Policy and Procedures

Interim policy and procedures provide clarification or address changes in department policy or procedures prior to being included in the current standards or policies. Typically, interim policy and procedures address technical changes, contract administration issues, and budget availability.

3.0 Implementation Procedures

When changes to policy and procedures are necessary, the directives may be distributed by the author directly to appropriate stakeholders for implementation.

In some instances, language should be incorporated in the RMA by the region staff to reflect the terms of the interim policy.

The interim policy remains in place, until new guidance is issued, or a new policy or procedure is created.
